Trees, Drains Driveways On Tuesday Agenda

The city council's monthly tree tour will be held Tuesday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock, as usual, but the regular city council meeting, which would normally be held on Wednesday, will convene Thursday evening, 7:45 o'clock, because of the Admission Day holiday.

Of the 11 items on the tree tour agenda, three are requests for tree removals.

The Carmel Plaza Company, which has been busy felling the tall pines on its property at Ocean, Junipero, Mission and Seventh Streets, requests permission from the council to remove two or three city oaks on Junipero Street. The company representative says the trees will be undercut by construction excavations and must be removed to eliminate hazards.

Charles T. and Lillian A. Catalan request removal of a pine on the west side of Camino Real between Ocean and Seventh; they say it is "old, very tall, may fall during a storm," and have put the city on notice of hazard.

A. C. Lafrenz wants permission to take out the two black acacias on Dolores Street near Seventh and replace them with plane trees after remodeling work is finished on his building, occupied by O'Keefe's.

Street Superintendent William Askew asks that San Carlos between Second and Third be opened so as to give access to the private property of Marguerite Alvarez. He also has called attention to the oversize driveway at Sixth and Mission, which he says, creates pedestrian hazard in front of the Purity store.

New Resident James Wong Howe's Cinematography Ranged From Mary Miles Minter To The Vienna Opera

"I don't believe you people on the Peninsula are aware at all of the extent of the beauty of this place. My work has taken me all over the world and I have never seen so much beauty in such a small space."

The speaker, James Wong Howe, paused and carefully buttered a second piece of toast at breakfast in a Dolores Street cafe, where we had found him browsing through a script while he ate.

"In my 42 years as a cinematographer in Hollywood, I have had to train myself to see more clearly than most people the various sides of nature in all its forms: the early morning light on drifting fog, the reflection of a sunset in a calm lagoon, the way the slanting rays of a late afternoon sun stream through the trees of a forest. Yet you have all these things here—and more besides."

Howe, whose years of experience as a cameraman and then as a director of cinematography have qualified him to speak on such matters, is staying in Carmel winding up preliminary plans for building a home on the coast several miles south of Carmel Highlands. During his stay, he has been up before dawn each morning to watch the sun rise over the hills of Carmel Valley, the slow change from murky gray to opalescence on Monterey Bay, and the gigantic but slowly diminishing shadows cast by the mountains of the Big Sur coast as the sun rises above them.

Steaming coffee cup in hand, Howe went on to speak of the various localities he had photographed and compared them to the Monterey Peninsula. In so doing, he came very close to covering the complete history of the motion picture industry, which he joined in 1917.

"I had come down from my home town in Washington and had worked my way up to a job as

Pharaoh, Heron Drama Spectacularly Staged At The Forest Theater

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Pharaoh by Herbert Heron received its world premiere at the Forest Theater Monday night, and proved to be a worthy expression and celebration of the talents of the man whose fifty years' devotion to the Carmel Forest Theater has presented so much in dramatic art for the locality. Heron has embodied the subject of reincarnation in a recurring love story of a present day Egyptologist and a pharaoh of thousands of years earlier whose ambitions embrace the unifying of the Kingdom of Egypt with the Kingdoms of the North by means of marriage and conquest, namely Ozymandias, King of Kings, whose monument Egyptologists have discovered with the cryptic inscription "Look on my works, Ye mighty, and despair,"—a prophetic epitaph, it would seem, for all who would physically dominate. And when the weary Norman Clode falls asleep against the monument on the site of ancient Thebes, he dreams of his former existence 4,000 years before as King of Egypt, which forms the main part of the play after the prologue. The epilogue discloses the happy ending with Asra, an Englishwoman living in an oasis on the desert, to whom, as a Chaldean princess, Norman was married 4,000 years before. Jealousy, crime and war add up the suspense that culminates in the stronger actions of the play and creates through its three acts and scenes a tense designing and human equivalent to all that prevents, or would attain, peace and happiness in the world.

Writing in poetic blank verse, Heron has imbued the dialogue with much truth and philosophy. It is a unique and clever drama which everyone should try to see this weekend. It is, besides, a spectacle of beauty in color and form, for the costumes are brilliant and historically correct in the affluence of ancient Egypt. They were all designed and executed by Ora Fallis, a huge and fine accomplishment for one individual, quite equal to professional scope in imagination. Heron, in the double part, sustained an uninterrupted stage presence throughout with dignity and passion as Pharaoh. As the younger Norman

29 New Teachers Start Orientation Program Today

Schools of the Carmel Unified District open a week from today, September 10. Today and tomorrow the 29 new teachers in the system and the one new principal are taking part in an orientation program. This morning they learned about the community and schools from Mayor John Chitwood, Librarians Mrs. Ruth Thornburg and Mrs. Pauline Heisinger, school trustee Ted Fehring, superintendent of schools Stuart Mitchell, curriculum coordinator Eleanor Crouch, and Raymond Gere, high school teacher and Carmel representative of the California Teachers Association.

Kippy Unforgettable To Appear Soon In Reader's Digest

"Kippy Unforgettable Accepted" read the telegram Mona Williams received on Monday from Reader's Digest. She hastened to tell Mrs. George Washington Stuart, Carmel's Kippy Stuart, that she would see the story of her life, written by Mona, appear shortly in the American magazine which is translated into 19 languages for foreign publication. Kippy has been written up by Mona as My Most Unforgettable Character.

Kippy has moved among us for many years, a part of Carmel. During her 70 odd years of life she has written a series of books for children centered about the boy Piang, a friend of Kippy's during her childhood in the Philippine Islands. She was an "Army wife" until her husband, Colonel Stuart, retired and brought Kippy to Carmel. After his death she turned one of her great interests, gardening, into a third career and, in her sixties, obtained a degree in landscape architecture. The patio of Pine Inn was one of her local landscaping projects.

Kippy, also, for many years, wrote a weekly gardening column for the Pine Cone and a month ago contributed a book review to this paper in spite of severe illness which would cause most persons to retreat into self pity.

Above all, Kippy is a vital citizen of this community, proud of the beauty, the people and the life which surround her; always ready to lend her support to any project which would support the Carmel way of life.

Chief Klaumann Has New Police Officer, Walter Scott Bailey

Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann announces a new police officer on the Carmel force, Walter Scott Bailey, 24 years old, hired Tuesday. Bailey, six feet, six inches tall, weighing 215 pounds, comes to the police department from the armed services. He has just completed four years as a policeman in the Air Force. After graduating from Monterey High School in 1954, Bailey attended Monterey Junior College for a year before signing up for his military training.

He lives in Pacific Grove, is single, and has put a notice on the police bulletin board which announces that he wants a one bedroom apartment in Carmel by October 1.

The new police officer, who will probably be nicknamed The Runt, fills one of the two vacancies created when George Vargas and Don Jensen left in June.

This afternoon they are hearing about the particular teaching needs in this community and school system. Tomorrow morning the guidance program in the Carmel district will be described and in the afternoon they will go to the schools in which they are to teach, talk to principals and inspect the buildings. Tomorrow evening the new teachers and principal will be informally welcomed to the district at a beach party sponsored by the C.T.A.

On the morning of September 10, all High School students report at 8:00 o'clock and go to the gymnasium for instruction. Sunset School seventh and eighth grade students will report at 8:30 o'clock, sixth graders at 9:00 o'clock. Woods, River, Tularcitos and Carmelo pupils all go to school on September 10 at 9:00 o'clock. There will be full day sessions with cafeterias operating except at River where the cafeteria will open two weeks after school starts and Carmelo where the cafeteria will open on September 14. Registration of new students at all schools is going on each day until school starts from 9:00 to 4:30 o'clock except on Saturday and Sunday. Entering kindergarten pupils must prove that they have been born during or before December 1954.

Only new classrooms to greet returning students will be in the two Valley schools. Tularcitos has six classrooms ready for use for the first time this fall. Carmelo one, provided by partitioning the multi-purpose room. Overflow kindergarten pupils at Tularcitos will attend Carmelo kindergarten situated in the old schoolhouse across the road from the new Carmelo School.

Bus service will be provided to

Fire Causes $500 Damage In Knit Shop

Fire from an undetermined cause in The Knit Shop, Mission between Fifth and Sixth brought out 16 Carmel volunteer firemen at 11:30 o'clock today and caused $500 damage. The fire originated near a wastebasket, according to Fire Chief Robert Smith, and spread to the wool stock and several garments that had been left for alteration.

Mrs. Gertrude K. Montgomery, owner of the business, says that the damaged articles are completely covered by insurance.

When the fire equipment arrived, Maurice Sloan, a neighbor, had the fire well under control with a garden hose.

Council Approves Three Zones For Carmel Business District Divided On Gas Station Issue

The city council on Monday evening gave general approval with minor changes to the three-zone central district plan recommended to them by the planning commission. They did this after two hours' discussion among themselves and with George Willox, planning commission chairman, and Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher, chairman of the Citizens Committee.

At the suggestion of Councilman Thomas May and the concurrence of Mayor John Chitwood, the council will study establishing a commission suggested transition zone on each side of Ocean Avenue between Monte Verde and Casanova Streets, presently in multiple dwelling use, and explore the possibilities of similar zoning for corresponding areas, if any, in the city.

The mayor requested City Clerk Larry Rose to convey the council's approval of the three-zone commercial district to the planning commission so that the commission may enter into detailed study of the three districts and prepare recommendations so the council can frame a new zoning ordinance for the business area.

The central district plan sent by the planning commission to the council and generally approved by the latter body on Tuesday evening, will have a central core C-1 zone, consisting predominantly of retail stores and professional offices. Adjacent to C-1 zone will be

C-1-S zone containing specified commercial service uses, multiple dwellings (hotels, motels and apartments) and uses permitted in C-1 zone. Third zone, light industry and commercial service C-2, exactly as it now exists, will be for certain service uses not compatible in either C-1 or C-1-S. A possible fourth transition zone may be added to keep areas already desirably developed from being changed in the future. Example for this suggested T-zone area is both sides of Ocean Avenue between Monte Verde and Casanova Streets containing Normandy Inn and Lobos Lodge. This property, if no T-zone is established, would be in C-1-S zone permitting commercial uses not wanted by the council or commission to extend down Ocean Avenue below Monte Verde Street.

Boundaries of the existing business district will not be changed. The three suggested commercial zones and the possible T-zone will be contained in the area now set aside for commercial use in Carmel.

The council on Tuesday evening considered the letter sent to them by the Citizens Committee suggesting changes in the recommendations prepared for the council by the planning commission and embodied in a planning commission report also considered by the council Tuesday evening.

The Citizens Committee letter suggested that the nine gas stations now in Carmel, three in the proposed C-1-S zone and six in C-1, should be allowed to operate only with use permits. In the planning commission report gas stations would only be permitted in C-2 zone thus making the present nine gas stations non-conforming uses as they have been for 19 years.

Councilmen Gunnar Norberg and Allen Knight wanted the stations to continue as non-conformances.

"Leave sleeping dogs lie," said Mr. Norberg.

"If nine stations are permitted with use permits, it's going to be hard to say no to a tenth," contended Mr. Knight.

Admiral Fisher pointed out that major oil companies were reluctant to remodel and improve their station premises while non-conforming uses. He suggested that if they operated under use permits, modernization and better fire protection measures would be undertaken. He stated that the city would gain by the improved appearance of the stations if they operated under use permits.

Councilman May was of the same opinion. He said that possible stringent requirements for a use permit, such as consideration of traffic conditions in the area of the station and demanding a set total amount of land area for a gas station, would be practical controls. Any gas station in order to operate would have to conform to such stringent conditions under a use permit.

"They couldn't remodel on a use permit," countered Mr. Knight, "or as non-conforming uses," he added.

Mr. May thought amortizing gas station property for improvement and relocation might be a solution and a benefit to the community. Admiral Fisher remarked that this was being done in Seaside.

City Attorney John Morse informed the council that with use permits, traffic pattern and flow could be used as a control, especially in designating how many corners in the business district could be used for gas stations. Traffic consideration would also prohibit any gas stations on Ocean Avenue under use permit control, he suggested. The stations would also be given dignity with a use permit, he continued. At present existing gas station operators cannot legally spend funds to improve their property and modernize their stations and make their appearance "in keeping with Carmel." He also said that extension of uses at a station would be against the law if use permits controlled operation of gas stations.

Mr. May repeated that he approved of use permits for gas stations and amortizing for improvement or relocation for the benefit of the community.

"We can get the improvement by sitting down with the owners," said Mr. Knight and discussion on the gas stations ended.

The Citizens Committee letter also recommended that Pine Inn be taken out of the proposed C-1 zone and put in C-1-S, also the Spinning Wheel Restaurant.

Referring to Pine Inn, Mr. Knight stated he wanted to see no downgrading of property. Mr. Morse suggested spot zoning for Pine Inn. It could then be restored if destroyed by fire, for example, after detailed plans were submitted to the planning commission.

Mr. Knight then pointed out the problem of spot zoning as it existed now at the Golden Bough Theater, specifically in establishing a red traffic zone as demanded by state law when no curbing existed in front of the property. Mr. Norberg objected to sale of certain merchandise in the lobby of the Golden Bough under its new management. Mr. Morse said this could be considered "normal."

Mayor Chitwood ended the meeting by asking the city attorney to consider legal ways of dealing with the matters discussed during the evening. He also asked the city

RECORD FOOTBALL TURNOUT AT CARMEL HIGH

With school not due to start until September 10 when the number should be swelled to over 100, Carmel High's football staff greeted 90 grid prospects on Tuesday's opening day of practice. This is the largest opening day turnout in Carmel High's history and assures the Padres of enough personnel to man the three teams planned for the 1959 season. Thirty-three players will be screened out for the varsity squad, Coach Fred Rainer will field a 44-man junior-varsity aggregation, and Hadley Hicks has plans for 33 players on his lightweight squad.

Player size in Tuesday's opening practice session ran the gamut from Danny Holman at 95 pounds (that was before the rugged practice moved him into the low 80s) and Tim Mitchell who checked in at 232 and checked out at 220. The Padre squad had only two players over the 200-pound mark, Mitchell and Doug McClurg (202), and all the prospects reported for duty in fairly good shape after an easy summer vacation.

Daily practice sessions from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. will continue until school starts on September 10 when the practice time will be shifted to 3:00 o'clock. This year all the teams will practice at the same time since a change in class scheduling will release all the football players at 3:00 o'clock. This will be good news for the parents who often greeted the junior-varsity gridders long after dark.

On hand for the first day's practice were seven returning varsity lettermen, Ron Faia, John Wilkin, Chris Wilkin, Darrell Clark, Harrison Hilbert, Bob Moore, and Russ Wise. Tom Green, another monogram winner, is still hard at work but will report in next Monday. Candidates with junior-varsity letters to their credit were Frank Mayo, Tony Belleci, Frank Bucher, Brian LeNeve, Doyle Clayton, Pat Boyle, Mike Dunham, Ed Wilson, David Hansen, Mike Draper, John Draper, Frank Preve, Alfredo Dopico, Nick Molitor, Fred Bucher, Paul Rice, Bartley Blout, Chuck Hoisington, Ronnie Adams, Bill Coleman, Don deBord, Toby Edson, Doug McClurg, Tony Schaurer, Brook Scherman, and Willie Bryant.

HOLLISTER FAVORED TO WIN B-DIVISION FOOTBALL TITLE

Consensus of opinion throughout the Coast Counties Athletic League shows that co-champe Gilroy High and Carmel High schools will have to move over this season to make way for the always-tough Hollister Haybalers who have their best material in several seasons. The Haybalers have more returning lettermen (16) than any other school in the league and the biggest junior-varsity squad in the history of the school moves up to help out the returning award winners. Hollister is able to field a line which averages over 200 pounds and the Haybaler backs tip the scales at better than 180. Bill Lawson moves up from the junior-varsity to replace Bob Matson as varsity coach and the wily veteran has the tools to make the Haybaler squad mighty dangerous during the '59 season.

Carmel and Gilroy will decide which team will threaten for the league title when they clash in the opening league game on October

3. The Padres and Mustangs played a 13-13 deadlock last season and they appear to be evenly matched again this year. The Mustangs have three All-CCAL selections returning for action this season and boast 13 returning lettermen. All-league players on the Gilroy squad are end Charles Elder, end Paul Latzke, and guard Lonnie Muenk. Latzke, a 6-5 220-pounder, is rated one of the top prep gridders in Northern California and he spearheads a line which averages over 200 pounds. Gilroy graduated its classy backfield but has a speedy quartet coming up from the reserves and junior-varsity.

Carmel with eight returning lettermen has a rebuilding job to do but the Padres have a 20-game win streak to protect and they will be a determined crew. In Ron Faia, the Padres have the best running back in the league and tackle John Wilkin was the top sophomore lineman in the league last season. Chris Wilkin, 6-4 and 180 pounds, could be Carmel's answer to Gilroy's big Latzke. Chris played tackle last year but has been moved to a wing spot for the '59 season. Russ Wise, 6-3 170-pounder, is a capable quarterback and one of the best defensive backs in the league. Center Harrison Hilbert should be the top pivotman in the league off his fine performance during his junior year.

King City, a single-wing team with fullback Don Schmidt providing the power, has plenty of heft and speed and figures to be right in the running for the league title. Coach Spicer had his single-wing attack humming at the end of the '58 season and the Mustangs figure to improve after a year's experience with the complicated wing attack.

Pacific Grove, Gonzales and San Lorenzo have rebuilding jobs to do this season while the Live Oak Acorns have returned to free-lance football whereby they will play mostly the junior-varsity teams in the coast counties area.

The Stillwater Yacht Club at Pebble Beach will hold its annual Labor Day Invitational Mercury Regatta at Stillwater Cove Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Members of the Class of 1949 who live on the Peninsula and attended the reunion were Paul Artellan of Carmel, Mrs. Jack Chalkey (Jackie Briggs) who lives in Del Rey Oaks, Arthur Harber and his wife (Dici Douglas) of Carmel, Mrs. Max Fernandez (Violet Figueroa) from Pacific Grove, Bob Figueroa of Carmel, Walter Frey of Carmel and Mrs. Bill Conlan (Benita Updike) of Carmel, who organized the reunion with Joyce Seifert.

As the group was about to sit down for dinner, a telegram was received from Laurel Dell Hildebrand Lombardi of San Francisco who regretted she could not be with her classmates on this occasion.

Husbands and wives of the 1949 graduates also attended the party and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Steenhout and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyers.

Art On The Peninsula

An exhibition of paintings by E. Cashion Mac Lennan is now being held in the Center Gallery of the Carmel Art Association. It is a distinctive showing of tempera and transparent water color renderings of landscapes, marines, flowers, and still-life compositions. Some of these "papers" were painted during recent visits in Hawaii.

Though Carmel is now Mrs. Mac Lennan's home, she has lived and traveled in many parts of the world, spending several months to a year in England, France, Spain, the Balearic Islands, and in many parts of our country, notably Palm Springs, The Ozarks, Yosemite, Santa Fe, Taos, Natchez, and New Orleans, in addition to Hawaii. And in all these places she has been able to record with her pencil and brush the mood and feeling of the region and of the people. Many of these paintings have been shown in previous exhibitions, and most of them are now in private collections throughout the country.

This artist varies her approach and handling of technique according to the subject matter that has inspired her; sometimes stressing the line, and at other times her treatment is realistic or decorative. All her paintings show a well-studied composition and basic design, and careful craftsmanship, for she believes these should be the foundations of all art whether expressed objectively or abstractly.

Mrs. Mac Lennan has studied at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts.

Washington University; Pratt Institute, New York; Chicago Art Institute; and a year in Paris at both the Julian Academy and The Grande Chaumiere. Her media include oils, water colors, lithography, and fresco, this last she studied with the noted Mexican painter, Ramos Martinez. An article about her experiences as an art student appeared recently in the Pine Cone.

E. Cashion Mac Lennan has exhibited her water colors at the Argent Gallery, New York; Legion of Honor, San Francisco; San Francisco Museum of Art; Cowie's Biltmore Gallery, Los Angeles; Illsley's Ambassador, Los Angeles; and in many all-California competitive exhibitions; also in most of the larger American cities in connection with the Traveling Shows of the California Water Color Society. She has received many prizes and awards, has been honored by three one-man shows at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art, and this present exhibition is her third solo-show at the Carmel Art Association Galleries.

Data on E. Cashion's achievements in art and in other fields are recorded in Who's Who of American Women, Who's Who in the West, and Who's Who in American Art. She is also a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Art Association.

The month's art exhibit at Carmel Foundation Town House opening September 8 presents paintings by the late Emily Frances (Jones) Balsam. Mrs. Balsam showed early promise of artistic ability while a student in Cheyenne High School when she produced illustrations for the school annual. Her native humor gave a slant to the drawings which was a delight to all who saw them. It was not until some years later, however, that she studied painting in earnest, when she joined a class at the University of the Philippines. Models for the students were chosen from members of several native tribes. Some paintings in this exhibit are from the Philippine period. When she came to Carmel Mrs. Balsam became a pupil of Mrs. Margy Shiffler. The present showing is made possible through the generous cooperation of her husband, Colonel Alfred S. Balsam of Carmel Highlands.

LAST WEEK END OF STUDIO SUMMER MUSICALS

This is the final week of the two summer musical shows being performed at The Studio Theatre in Carmel. Oh Kay! the George and Ira Gershwin burlesque of the 1920's is playing each evening at 8:30 through Friday, and Whoops! the successful original musical comedy revue by Jerry De Bono will play over Labor Day weekend on Saturday and Sunday.

Whoops! has been playing to enthusiastic audiences since its opening June 20. Alternating weeks with Whoops! has been Oh Kay! which opened July 23 on Sunday night the final performance of the summer season will be presented.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

It's been a busy summer, but take heart, Labor Day is almost here. After that most of the visitors go home, most of the children go back to school, and all of us draw long sighs of relief. And here are some good new books to cheer you in your relief.

In Sarajevo, on June 28, 1914, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria was assassinated and this event touched off the first World War in which 10,000,000 men were killed. Joachim Remak tells the story of the planning, the execution, and the results of the assassination in his book entitled Sarajevo.

The first anthology of Mexican poetry has been collected by Octavio Paz and translated into English by Samuel Beckett. There is a short story of Mexican poetry by the compiler. The arrangement of the poems is roughly chronological, beginning with Francisco de Terrazas who was born in 1525, and continuing on to Alfonso Reyes who was born in 1889 and is still living.

To fill a need expressed by travelers to the east, John Caldwell has recently published a Far East Travel Guide. Here are up-to-date suggestions on how to see the most for the least money in such places as Korea, Japan, Cambodia, Laos, Macao, and many another far away place.

Teen age gangs, adult mobs, racketeers are all discussed in Mob's Man by James Horan. This is a no-punches-pulled story of a mobster, told from the inside. It is illustrated with photographs taken secretly and used as evidence in later trials.

Of course some of us sleep better than others of us, but most of us have an occasional night when sleep is impossible or delayed, and when worries seem to pile into our consciousness. To be armed with advice as to what makes sleep come quicker and with greater resulting freshness of mind and body may reduce sleepless nights to a minimum. This just might result from reading Sound Ways to Sound Sleep by Donald and Eleanor Laird. They say that their book contains everything you need to know to get the sleep you need. Insomniacs, this is for you. The library will be closed on Labor Day. Happy holiday to you, too!

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

Mrs. Phyllis Hart has been appointed chairman of this year's Subscription Drive for the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. Mrs. Hart, known to many through her work on behalf of the Carmel Republican Women's Club, distinguished herself as a volunteer worker last year by selling more than 100 season tickets to the Circle Theatre.

Expanding her activities this season, she will be in full charge of the campaign to double the number of Golden Bough subscribers. The drive, which opens this week, will close on September 30.

First play of the subscription season will be Somerset Maugham's brilliant high comedy, The Circle. The five remaining plays to be produced between September and June will be chosen from a list which includes such distinguished titles as Look Back In Anger, The Potting Shed, Middle of the Night, Androcles and the Lion, A Month in the Country, and several other notable works.

For the past three years, Mr. Vickrey made his home at Monte Verde Street and Eleventh Avenue, and for the past seven years was a construction foreman for the P. G. and E. He was born on April 25, 1896, in Hendricks County, Indiana.

Survivors are his wife, Mary R. Vickrey of Carmel; a son, Major Charles Ramsey Vickrey (USAF), McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, Kansas; three brothers, J. W. Vickrey of Sacramento, Mack and Henry Vickrey of Los Angeles; and a sister, Mrs. G. V. Boyd of Los Angeles.

Funeral services, conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, were held in the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon, followed by burial in Cemetery El Encinal.

John Rowland

John Eugene Rowland, nationally known architectural engineer, died unexpectedly of a heart attack on Friday while on a business trip to Los Angeles. He was watching a fight on television when he was stricken.

Mr. Rowland had lived in Carmel for two and a half years. He was born in Jackson, Ohio, on July 2, 1892, of Welsh parentage. His grandfather, John Frederick Rowland, was poet laureate of Wales and an engineer, as were also many other members of Mr. Rowland's family.

At the start of his 45-year career, Mr. Rowland was chief engineer for Henry Ford, for whom he constructed a model village in Kentucky. Later he was chief engineer for Rowland Power Consolidated Collieries, a business operated by his family in Indiana.

He later developed a special field of work and was architectural engineer for many Federal meat packing plants in the eastern and middle western states. He continued to pursue this occupation in the western states after moving to California in 1945. He made his home in Berkeley from 1947-1957.

Mr. Rowland came to live in Carmel in December, 1957. His home was situated at Dolores Street and Castro Lane. Recently, Mr. Rowland perfected and patented a refrigeration cooling system for the preservation of meat. A plant using this system is being constructed in Sydney, Australia.

He was a member of the Masonic order, Scottish Rite bodies and the Shrine.

Mr. Rowland is survived by his wife, Marie E. Rowland of Carmel.

a son, Byron Rowland, living in Texas; a brother, David Rowland of Cuba, Illinois; and three daughters, Mrs. Helen Kilpatrick of Orinda, Mrs. Virginia Merlino of Fairhope, Alabama, and Mrs. Gayle Hamilton of Foley, Alabama; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the Paul Mortuary Chapel in Pacific Grove with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of The Wayfarer, officiating. Pallbearers were William E. Oliver, Robert A. Kilpatrick, Colonel Robert Osborne, Kenneth Matthews, Clem Perkins and Jack Errington. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove.

F. McKechnie

Frank McKechnie died on August 27 in a local hospital after a short illness. A retired professor, Mr. McKechnie came to live in Carmel last year. His home was at Casanova Street and Thirteenth Avenue.

Mr. McKechnie was born on December 10, 1896, in Oakland. He received a bachelor's degree from Stanford University in 1925 and later his master's degree also. His doctor of philosophy degree was granted by Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

A veteran of both World Wars I and II, Mr. McKechnie served with the Department of Naval Intelligence in Washington, D.C. and in Cairo, Egypt. He taught at the University of Madrid in Spain and later at the University of California at Los Angeles where he was an instructor in Spanish. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

Mr. Alexander was born on October 16, 1882, in Saginaw, Michigan. Early in his youth he entered upon a musical career and his first venture, in his late teens, was to direct a church choir. He continued his musical work for 60 years until he retired 10 years ago and came to live in Carmel.

His wife, Eleanor, died in 1933. He is survived by a brother, John Alexander of Carmel.

ENCOUNTER

Wooly caterpillar,
Hot-footing it across
This blazing man-made stone
For twilight sleep,
Another waking,
Hear me—
Is this arrested shadow
That gives you pause,
Part of the design?
Can I withdraw this blow,
Or must it fall,
To lock your will,
And mine,
With chance
And leave me here
To wait
Alone?

There!
Kiss the hand
That gave you shade.
Crawl up the arm,
Across the shoulder,
Stand,
And cup an ear.
Listen—
Can you hear tomorrow?

—ALLAN CAMERON

QUARTIER LATIN

There is a corner near the Seine
Where short street meets with narrow street,
A place that draws my restless feet
With haunting music in my brain.

To me the juncture of the world
Of quiet shops and questing hearts;
Dim Rue de Seine and des Beaux-Arts
Where morning mists glow sun-impearled.

Sad ghosts of Wilde and Baudelaire,
Nought happened here to keep me bound!
Save once a scarlet rose I found
That fell from honey-yellow hair.

—WALDEN GARRATT

ARROW OF SONG

Indifference, carefully nurtured,
Followed the curve of sorrow
And hardened into a shell of ice.
Aloof in my shell,
I watched the shadow play, unmoved:
Remembrance, with its knife, was lost.

Looking up toward a sun without warmth
I saw, but did not hear,
Spiraling down through sunlight
Thin, pointed notes of birdsong.

Song splinters the ice, as crystal breaks
As music too high for earth-bound ears,
And the grieving of an unreturning time
Returns.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's God-given dominion over disease and enslavement will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Accounts of spiritual dominion to be read from the Bible include Christ Jesus' healing of the "woman having an issue of blood twelve years" (Luke 8) and Paul's healing of Eutychus who "fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead" (Acts 20). The Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Man."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read this passage: "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses" (228:11-13).

The Golden Text is from Genesis (1:26): "God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth."

Married In Mission

Patricia Anne Crombe, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Charles E. Crombe of Pebble Beach, and Lieutenant (j.g.) Charles Joseph Gibowicz Jr. were married in a military ceremony on Saturday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock in Carmel Mission. Lieutenant Commander Leon Darkowski, chaplain at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white peau de soie gown made with a fitted bodice and full skirt which swept into a chapel train. Appliques of imported lace trimmed the dress and her veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of orange blossoms. She carried a crescent bouquet of spider chrysanthemums and ivy.

Christine Anderson of Palo Alto was maid of honor. She attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart with the bride. Bridesmaids were three former classmates of the bride at Santa Catalina School for Girls, Connie Carpenter of Del Monte, Mardi Hack of Coronado and Fredericka Kraus of Pebble Beach. They were dressed similarly in champagne satin gowns with scoop necklines and modified bell skirts. They wore large matching satin bows in their hair and carried bronze chrysanthemums tied with brown satin streamers.

Lieutenant (j.g.) Richard Mauch was best man and the ushers were Lieutenants (j.g.) Ronald Johnson, Donald Baker, and Edward Leuschwager, all jet pilots at Miramar Air Base.

The Copper Cup Room at the Naval Postgraduate School was decorated with white flowers for the reception. Mrs. Crombe received the guests in a beige Italian silk suit and a matching hat trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her flowers were white orchids.

Jeanne Fratessa of Carmel was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Crombe of Charleston, South Carolina. She attended Monterey Peninsula College for two years.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Gibowicz of Greenfield, Massachusetts. He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts where he was affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

After a honeymoon in Mexico, the couple will live in San Diego. The groom is currently a jet pilot stationed at the Naval Base at Miramar.

A special guest at the wedding was Mrs. Addie Campbell of Honolulu, one of the oldest friends of Captain and Mrs. Crombe.

Better Pay Than Teaching

Douglas Farrar, who graduated from Monterey Peninsula College in June, has a job in a bake shop at Lake Tahoe this summer. He reports to Carmel friends that he enjoys his work and even thinks about becoming a baker. "They make more money than teachers," says Douglas. He is the grandson of Mrs. Sara Farrar, former Pine Cone society editor.

Finishes Flight Training

Midshipman Second Class Richard W. Holt, son of Mrs. Estella Holt, recently completed three weeks of aviation indoctrination and training at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida. He will return to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis for third year work this month.

Mr. Elstob Elected Member

Frederick Charles Elstob of Carmel has been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is also a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales and is associated with a Salinas accounting firm.

Jack Receives Promotion

John W. Hilgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Hilgers of Carmel, was promoted to the rank of Marine First Lieutenant on August 13 while serving with Headquarters Battalion, a unit of the Third Marine Division stationed on Okinawa.

Joins 6211th Reserve Unit

Lieutenant Colonel Baron A. Edwards, commanding officer of the Headquarters U.S. Army Reserve Garrison (6211 ARSU), announces that Private Robert M. Phillips, Twelfth and Mission Streets, has been assigned to the unit. Private Phillips, at present, is a student at Monterey Peninsula College.

Wed Saturday In The Valley

On Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Carmel Valley, Genevieve Christian, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Christian and the late Major Christian, was married to J. Lawrence DeVine of Monroe, Michigan, by Father Ignatius Loughran.

Samuel F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach gave his niece in marriage. She was dressed in an ivory linen sheath. Lace insets trimmed the Empire bodice marked with a bow. Her veil was held in place by lace rosettes studded with seed pearls and ivory roses were used in her old-fashioned bouquet.

Mrs. Richard Osborne was her cousin's attendant in a deep pink sheath dress and a small veiled hat of pink leaves. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Charles Severens, a fraternity brother of the groom from Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, was best man and ushers were John Grammer, George Gillen and Charles Osborne.

Mrs. Christian attended her daughter's marriage in a gown of antique gold shantung with which she wore a small hat of green and gold leaves and jade jewelry.

The wedding breakfast, for family members and a few intimate friends, was held at River Ranch in the Valley.

After a stay in the Bay Area and a honeymoon in Florida, the groom will leave for duty in Europe.

The bride is a graduate of Radford School for Girls in Tucson and the University of Arizona. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morse of Newton, Massachusetts, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas William Christian of the Isle of Man.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. DeVine of Monroe, Michigan. He is a graduate of Georgetown University and the school of journalism at Northwestern University. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity. This month he graduated from the Russian department at the Army Language School.

The party will be in charge of Mrs. Pauline Heisinger, the children's librarian, and will be planned around the central theme of this year's club. This theme was the possible design of our flag after the admission of the fiftieth state. The club members have been working out various designs for the flag, adding a star for every book read.

A program of movies and story telling has been arranged for the party. The story telling will be done by Harry Behn who is both a writer and an illustrator of children's books. Mr. Behn was born in Arizona and lived there many years. He is an authority on the Indians of the Southwest, and much of his writing and drawing has been on the subject of these Indians.

Donna Patnude Wed Sunday

Tall standard vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums were used to decorate the Carmel Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon, when, at 3:00 o'clock, Donna Bell Patnude was married to Harold Covert Weston by Dr. Joseph M. Ewing. George McConnell sang. Because, before the wedding, The Lord's Prayer, during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Carl Patnude. Her flower-embossed white taffeta gown with a fitted bodice flared above the hip into a full floor-length skirt. The long sleeves of the dress were fastened with tiny buttons and the high scalloped neckline matched the scalloped bandeau cap, sprinkled with pearls, which held her elbow length veil in place. Five white butterfly orchids, surrounded by bouvardia, formed her crescent bouquet. Tiny pearl earrings were her only jewelry.

Lois Patnude was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Darlene Draper and Joan Sammis. They were dressed alike in moss green taffeta gowns, similar in style to the bride's, with matching bandeaux trimmed with yellow flowers in their hair. Their bouquets were crescent arrangements of yellow carnations.

Aubrey J. Harris of Yuba City was best man and ushers were Rei Yoshinobu of Monterey, Fred Phillips of Ferndale and Mat Laky of Carmel.

Mrs. Patnude attended her daughter's marriage in a dark beige lace sheath dress with matching hat and gloves and a white carnation corsage. Her hat had a small veil and sequin trim.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Harold Covert Weston Sr. of Bothell, Washington, wore a dusty rose lace dress, matching hat and accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The wedding reception was held in the Carmel Masonic Hall. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Margaret Patnude of San Jose and Mrs. Lillian Harrah of Capitola, presided at the tea and coffee table decorated with arrangements of white stock. Lighted candles in candelabra were placed on the cake table. Punch was served from a third table by Betsy Schuyler of Pacific Grove. After the bride and groom had cut their four-tiered wedding cake with a knife engraved with their names, Mrs. Philip Gilbert of San Anselmo, the bride's aunt, served the guests. Kathleen Whaley of Saratoga and Susan Gilbert of San Anselmo, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the guest book.

When the young couple left for a Grand Canyon honeymoon, the bride was wearing a linen ensemble of striped sheath dress and brown duster with beige accessories and hat.

They will return on Wednesday to live on the Peninsula and continue their studies at Monterey Peninsula College.

Donna is a graduate of both Sunset School and Carmel High School. Her husband was stationed at the Naval Air Facility in Monterey and remained here after his discharge to enter college. His early education was received in Washington in Bothell and Seattle schools.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Echler of Orville, Washington, and their two children, Wendy and Jerry.

Two Girls, Two Boys Born

Annette Domingo and Suzette Brenda Bernstein were born last month at the Peninsula Community Hospital. Annette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederico Domingo and was born on August 21.

Suzette was born on August 26. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bernstein.

The two boys born recently at the Peninsula Community Hospital are Wayne Alan Wood on August 21 and Daniel Clinton Azcarate on August 24. Wayne's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wood. Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ygnacio Azcarate.

Dr. Thomas Visited Russia

Dr. Faith Thomas, with her mother Mrs. Dana Thomas of San Jose, has arrived in Carmel and plans to spend several weeks at her home on Monte Verde Street. Dr. Thomas has just returned from two and a half months in Europe, one month of which was spent in Russia. Other countries visited included Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, East and West Germany, and Luxembourg. Recent house guests of Dr. Thomas were Dorothy Greene and Dorothy Andreasen of Alhambra and Dorothy Kriger of San Jose.

Potter-Schull Wedding

The Cathedral of St. Luke in Ancon, Canal Zone, was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday night, August 26, when Miss Suzan Ruth Potter, daughter of the Governor of the Canal Zone and Mrs. William Everett Potter, became the bride of Mr. Edwin Gunner Schull, of Jupiter, Florida. Mr. Schull is the son of a former lieutenant governor of the Canal Zone, Colonel Herman W. Schull, and Mrs. Schull, and the grandson of Brigadier General Herman W. Schull and Mrs. Schull of Carmel.

The wedding was especially noteworthy in that it was the first time in the Canal Zone's history that a daughter of a governor has been married during her father's term of office.

The 8:00 o'clock marriage ceremony was performed by the Very Reverend Mainert J. Peterson, dean of the cathedral. The altar was banked with white tropical flowers; palms and tropical greenery were used throughout the candle-light cathedral.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a cathedral-length wedding dress of imported French organdy over ice blue peau de soie. The portrait neckline was outlined with appliqued organdy lilies of the valley and this lily motif was repeated on the lower part of the skirt and on the panels which made the chapel train.

Her shoulder-length veil of French illusion was worn with a tiny crown of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and roses, and, as her "something old," a small handkerchief of rose point lace which her mother had carried at her wedding.

Miss Jo Ann Potter served as her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Evelyn Klause, of Macon, Mississippi; Mary Tucker, of San Antonio, Texas; and Elizabeth Lord, of West Chester, Pennsylvania. They were schoolmates of the bride at the Marjorie Webster College in Washington, D.C.

The bridal attendants were gowned alike in short dresses of white organdy over peau de soie in a deeper blue than the foundation of the bride's dress. The attendants' dresses were appliqued with white organdy roses and their headresses were single large organdy roses, matching the appliques on their dresses.

Each of the bridal attendants carried a huge water lily. Lilies of this variety are traditionally used for state occasions at the governor's house. The maid of honor's flower shaded from pale pink to deep vermillion; the bridesmaids' lilies shaded from faint mauve to deep violet.

Mr. Walter Schull, of Jupiter, Florida, served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. George Hipp, of Summit, New Jersey; Mr. Irwin Brooks, of Philadelphia; Mr. Victor Herr and Mr. Bruce Quinn, from the Canal Zone.

A reception in the beautiful tropical garden of the governor's house followed the ceremony at the cathedral. Mrs. Potter wore a blue chiffon sheath and Mrs. Schull was gowned in pink lace. Miss Peggy Ann Donovan, of the Canal Zone, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Harold D. LeMar, or Omaha, assisted at the reception. The bridal couple will spend a 10-day honeymoon in Nassau before going on to Charlottesville, Virginia, where Mr. Schull will enter the University of Virginia Law School.

The bride attended Brownell Hall Preparatory School in Omaha and Goucher and Marjorie Webster Colleges. Mr. Schull is a graduate of Hotchkiss and of Duke University, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta national fraternity.

Honeymoon in Carmel

Mr. and Mrs. Jon McBride (Eva Beal) spent the first few days of their honeymoon here in the Carmel home of Jon's mother, Mrs. Viola Russ McBride of Ferndale.

They were married on Saturday afternoon by the Reverend Karel V. Vit, pastor of the Unitarian Fellowship of the Monterey Peninsula. The double ring ceremony took place at 4:00 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, friends of the groom's parents.

The wedding party stood before a table placed in front of a window opening on a spreading oak. On the table a large bowl of gladioli, daisies and chrysanthemums, with lighted candles in antique silver candlesticks on each side, was placed on a white linen runner which reached to the floor to form an altar.

The bride wore an ivory brocade princess style dress. A fold of the material defined the Empire bodice which was fastened in front, below a Peter Pan collar, with a row of tiny crystal buttons. Her white feather headband matched her shoes and accessories. She was given in marriage by Mrs. Metta

Roberts of Carmel, a friend of the groom's family for many years. William McBride, older brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple shared their flower-decked wedding cake and were toasted in champagne by members of the wedding party and those who witnessed the ceremony. The latter were the groom's cousin, Jack Russ of Eureka, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Belloc, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis, Mardi Lloyd, Mike Raggett and Owen and Lloyd Baylis.

At the end of their stay here, Jon and his bride went to San Diego to visit his mother who is spending the summer on her yacht, the Fidelia. They will live in Eureka where the groom is associated with his father, Rex McBride, in operating family ranches. Mr. McBride was unable to leave at this season to come to Carmel for his son's wedding. Also unable to be present was Jon's younger brother, Andy, who is serving with the Marines in Tennessee.

Jon, a member of a pioneer Humboldt County family, attended Sunset School 10 years ago and spent another year here when he was younger. He has been a frequent summer visitor and also came to Carmel often during the years he was a student at Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo.

The bride's father is "Scoop" Beal, associate editor of the Humboldt Times. She grew up in Eureka and met Jon when they were both high school students.

WAYFARER AUXILIARY

Two foreign students who attended Monterey Peninsula College this past year furnished the program for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon Otto Strobl and Muneko Terami. Otto outlined the program of the International Relations Club at the college, organization for the foreign students and for all Americans interested in social cultural activities for the visiting students. There were about 126 of these from more than 20 countries, with Filipinos having the highest number. He told of the help given by local citizens, both financial and social, and, in answer to questions, of his own reasons for coming to Monterey. Muneko chose this college because her older brother was born in this country and as a citizen is serving in the military at Fort Ord, which made easy her entry

Howe Got His Start Photographing Mary Miles Minter

(Continued from Page One) a still cameraman at one of the studios. Those were the days when we wore leather leggings and put our caps on backwards. Those were our trademarks. We wore the leggings for a very good reason; in the early days, we hadn't the money to build big sets so we did a lot of our shots on the sly in back yards in Los Angeles. Sometimes an irate householder would come after us with a club and we had to pick up our equipment and run. The leggings meant there was less clothing to catch on fences and trip us as we ran. DeMille wore his until he died—had them tailor-made especially for him.

"One day I had occasion to make a still picture of the biggest actress in Hollywood at that time, Mary Miles Minter. She had pale blue eyes which photographed almost white on the primitive film materials of that time. By placing her so that a dark area of a wall was reflected in her eyes, I got a picture that made her eyes look normal. She was so impressed that she insisted that I do all her cinematography and that's how I got started in the business."

Howe, now much in demand by the major producers, no longer is under contract and is able to do only those pictures which present a challenge. How well he succeeds is evidenced by the largest collection of Oscars awarded any cinematographer in Hollywood.

"My two latest efforts which have been released, both of which make me very proud, were 'Bell, Book, and Candle' and 'The Old Man and the Sea.' The first was an exercise in indoor lighting effects to augment the atmosphere of witchcraft around Kim Novak, Hermione Ginggold, and Jack Lemmon. It was all done with filters over the lights and I must admit I think the effect was excellent."

"The other presented entirely different problems. You will recall that many of the sequences were shot before daybreak when the lighted lamps of the fishermen's boats were bobbing in a blue-black sea as the first faint glow of dawn began to appear. This kind of color photography is the most difficult of all since there is not enough light to measure exposures and it must be done entirely by guesswork. It simply must be right the first time since the conditions might not be the same again for weeks."

In speaking of his knowledge of photographic techniques, Howe told the story of a commercial photographer in Los Angeles who had been hired to take a picture of a Chinese restaurant Howe owned there. The photographer was using a long focal length lens on his bulky camera which made it necessary for him to set up his equipment in the middle of a busy Hollywood thoroughfare to get all the building on his film.

Howe, unknown to the photographer, was standing beside the manager of his cafe dressed nondescriptly in white shirt and white trousers, watching the cameraman as a student. Members of the auxiliary showed great interest in the students and asked many questions.

The first fall meeting began with a luncheon served by Circle One, Mrs. W. J. Hammond, chairman. The president, Mrs. John R. Christie, introduced new members and visitors. Devotions were given by Mrs. C. A. Broadbuss, with a patriotic theme from the text, Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God, pointing out the purposes and sacrifices of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and their devotion to "liberty under law and freedom with justice," expressing the spirit which has animated the country. The two foreign students were introduced by Mrs. L. J. Fletcher, program chairman.

dodge the onrushing cars while trying to make final adjustments to his camera. Finally, he made his way to the harried man and, intending to be helpful, inquired, "Why not use your wide angle lens so you can move closer to the building and get out of the traffic?"

Whereupon the photographer replied, "Look, buddy, when I want advice from amateurs, I'll ask for it. You get back to your chop suey and I'll take the pictures."

Howe, with characteristic Chinese aplomb, went back inside his establishment, chuckling inwardly.

Howe has just returned from a four month assignment in Munich and Vienna where he photographed a soon-to-be-released motion picture, The Magic Flame, in which he was required to photograph as one of the sequences an actual performance of the Vienna State Opera Company with the Vienna Philharmonic in the newly reopened opera house.

"My most stimulating job so far," was his comment.

After two months in Hollywood to make another feature starring Rita Hayworth, Jimmy Wong Howe will return to the Peninsula to build his new home and join the ranks of other distinguished local residents.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The recital by Gabor Rejto, cellist, and Adolph Baller, pianist, at the attractive hall of the Allen-Smith Importers in Monterey was attended Monday afternoon by a representative musical audience. About to start for Australia the same evening, these first-rate musicians who are so en rapport they play together as one man, were generous in giving the Brahms Sonata in E minor, a Debussy Sonata, the Beethoven op. 60 in A major, and, for encore, the Adagio movement from the Brahms Sonata in F major, all of which were performed with musical values that only exceptional musicians possess and which was proven by these artists when heard formerly in Carmel. We were grateful to hear them again. Casals, of whom Rejto was originally a protege, is the only other cellist one is reminded of, while Baller's brilliant and sensitive manipulation of the Beethoven piano commanded an artistic whole throughout and earned unrestrained enthusiasm from the discriminating audience.

Word comes from dancer Henry Kersh, who was engaged for Gluck's Orfeo in the Vancouver festival, that the visiting critic Taubmann of the New York Times reported the performance as one of "major league calibre" with Kersh as one of the two solo dancers in Elysian Fields, and that his personal success in the festival was great. He also gave a solo program at the Vancouver Arts Club. He appeared in the Redlands Bowl August 21 and will dance September 7 at Laguna Beach.

The San Francisco Opera Company makes history today by being the first American opera group to fly by special plane for its opening of the season in Portland. Director Kurt Adler reports the incapacity of one of the roster for Pagliacci, the donkey, Mike, who is in the hospital with a sprained leg. Danny Sarris, property master, is searching for a substitute for the first San Francisco performance on September 19. Can anyone on the Monterey Peninsula lend an intelligent donkey?

Pharaoh, Heron Drama, Staged At Forest Theater

Clode he might have better chosen a lighter wig than the one that looks quite black as it would be more becoming. Haraqah, Queen of Zoan, carried her part of the spiteful self-seeker with much aplomb up to the climax when she stabs her rival, Nancy Wooli- ever as Aral Joyce and Korda, Princess of Chaldaea, was an attractive heroine who counsels wisely and wins the king; while Henry Meyers as the Chaldean Envoy made a spirited entry and plea. Ronald Bostwick as Rahotep, the general of the archers, was impressive as the traitor and would-be usurper who makes an effort to kill the king, but fails and Pharaoh triumphs. Duncan and Gordon Stitt as fugitives, David Park and Reed Putnam as merchants, Glen Berwick, a captain, Cort Smith, a slinger, Martin Caldwell, an archer, and Russell Eddy an old spearman, besides Gordon Von Richter, Bill Johnson, Jerry Zellhoefer, David Armanasco, Francis Johnson, Susan and Kathy Keelan, Susan Turner and Kathy Testa, all filled colorful parts in the Egyptian scenes.

In the prologue Jerry Zellhoefer was also Dick who is found sleeping on top of the monument. Jared Mays is Mouri, an anxious Arab servant seeking to control Dick. John Harrison as Sir William Vandal, whose diction was the best in the company, Lesley Robertson as lady Vandal, Nicola Harrison as Ruth Simpson, Rolf Kuenkel as Karl Steinhaus, Fred Farley as Matthew Wiggs, and Dave Kirk as Auguste Marceau, three of the Egyptologists who argue about their findings, were alert.

Dave Kirk as designer and director deserves great praise, though it is a pity he allowed the walls in one act to be ended with parts of the epalace used in another act as it marred the illusion. However, the moving of a lot of cumbersome scenery is no easy matter and was done under Jack James as stage manager without undue waits. The lighting by Roland Scheffler and Reed Putnam was quite in keeping with a dream atmosphere and particularly impressive in the temple scene. Construction was under Chuck Stone, painting by Ruth Allan and Robin Roberts, poster by Joyce Bishop and a box office picture by Dorothy Briscoe. The appropriate music was under the direction of Mausita Jennings while Jack and Schari Herron served the theater box office and gate and kept the big "home fires burning" each side of the auditorium for the comfort of the audience, which enthusiastically and persistently applauded the whole performance. It will run every night this week through Sunday which should give opportunity for many to view it and honor a Carmel poet whose versatility is outstanding, even in Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hanssens received notice Monday that their bid to continue as landlords for the Carmel Post Office had been accepted. They have been awarded a 10-year lease with an option for a five-year renewal.

Work will begin immediately to enlarge the present building so that the floor space will be doubled. The building will be extended by an addition on the south side behind the Dolores Street shops. The existing portion of the building will be remodeled to "same as new condition."

Postmaster Fred Strong says he will be able to add 1,500 boxes to the 3,283 now in the building. It is the intention of the landlords to have the addition sufficiently completed in time for the Christmas rush so that Carmelites will receive their packages at the postoffice instead of having to go to a substation.
